

Olive Green Rymal Rutty
Descendants of Thomas Twinnie Rutty

D-1

Generation No. 1

1. Thomas Twinnie¹ Rutty died in Trelawny, Jamaica, BWI. He married Elizabeth Waterhouse.

Notes

Thomas Twinnie Rutty (originally of a Yorkshire family), his wife Elizabeth, and four children, Mary Windsor, Joseph Waterhouse, William Henry, and Elizabeth, arrived in Jamaica in 1848 from London, England. Another child, Sarah, was born shortly after their arrival.

They leased Siloah, and later Winchester, two coffee, pimento and cattle properties in St. Elizabeth Parish.

Thomas's father had a business in Yorkshire cobbling shoes for the Royal Navy.

Thomas died when his horse shied and threw him over a precipice.

Children of Thomas Rutty and Elizabeth Waterhouse are:

- + 2 i. Mary Windsor² Rutty.
- + 3 ii. William Henry Rutty.
- + 4 iii. Elizabeth Rutty.
- + 5 iv. Sarah Rutty.
- + 6 v. Joseph Waterhouse Rutty, born 1838 in London, England; died 1910 in Salt Cut, St. Mary's Parish, Jamaica, BWI.

3. William Henry² Rutty (Thomas Twinnie¹). He married Tinny Watson.

Notes

William Henry Rutty became a planter in Trelawny, married Tinny Watson of St. Elizabeth, and went on to Lottery Estate as Overseer. He had always wanted to enter the ministry, and studied in his spare time. He eventually realized his dream, and became Reverend Rutty of the Baptist Church, and was sent as a missionary to the Cayman Islands. They stayed for many years, then returned to Jamaica and was clergyman at Salem, near St. Ann's Bay, and at Yallohs, St. Thomas. They eventually went back to Cayman Brac (one of the Cayman Islands), where he became Commissioner/Administrator of the Cayman Islands.

6. Joseph Waterhouse² Rutty (Thomas Twinnie¹) was born 1838 in London, England, and died 1910 in Salt Cut, St. Mary's Parish, Jamaica, BWI. He married Elizabeth Anne Swire in Falmouth Parish, Jamaica, BWI, daughter of Roger Swire and Francis Cox.

Notes

Joseph Waterhouse Rutty became a planter, working at Trelawny, and then St. Thomas. While at Duckenfield, he joined the Jamaica Volunteers, which were called out to quell the riot in Morant Bay in 1865. He was found the next day, barely alive, with his left hand smashed, his jawbone broken, a cutlass wound across the back of his neck, and twenty-two other cuts on his head.

After recovering in Morant Bay Hospital, he went to Arthur's Seat in Manchester to stay with his sister, Mary Windsor MacDermot and family. He went from there to Trelawny, where he was employed by Henry Sewell, the largest land-owner in the parish. He worked as Overseer for Home Castle, Dornock, and Dover properties, at that time the best cattle properties on the island - 4000 acres of grass and commons. There were very fine stables built at Home Castle, with two stallions, and three jacks (jackasses). He reared some of the finest horses and mules on the island. Quite a few of his colts were sold to officers at the Army Camp in Kingston, and won a good many races.

On a weekend visit to another Sewell estate, Lottery, where his brother William Henry Rutty was Overseer, he met Mrs. Elizabeth Page, the last child of the Roger Swires, and the widow of Henry Constine Page (son of Colonel Page of St. Thomas). They became engaged and were married in the Falmouth Parish Church. They lived at Home Castle, with the two children of her first marriage: Robert Andrew Page and Henrietta Constance Page. They had six children of their own, as listed.

Buried in St. Mary's Parish Church yard.
