The clash was the result of the motion to express pleasure at an audit which they had not studied. Led by Mayor Buchanan of Inger-

Post, Alderman John Edgar of Peterboro', E. T. Sitton of Hamilton and several others opposed the motion. An attempt by President J. W. Lyon to shut off the discussion in order that railway matters might be considered added to the trouble.

In the course of his address, Sir Adam referred to the by-law passed by the Toronto City Council notifying the Toronto Electric Light Company of its intention to purchase the T.E.L. plant at the expiration of the franchise, He was opposed to such a step, he said. The question might have been put to the ratepayers last January with the one in regard to the street railway.

"If it had," said the Chairman of the Hydro Commission, "I would have felt it my duty to say no, unless at its scrap value."

have to be purchased as a going concern.

"I will say to the City Council, as it has no value to you, rescind the by-law at once," said Sir Adam. Sir Adam Beck reviewed the conditions leading up to the audit being requested in 1916, following charges in a report to the Provincial Treasurer that the Commission had spent $4.199,620.55 more than had been authorized by the Government, and had done work in the municipalities and in connection with the London and Port Stanley Railway not within the power of the Commission. The Clarkson audit, which required a year and a half to complete, went back to the inauguration of the Hydro, and was no more than the members of the commission expected.

"If any member here wishes to worry over criticism like the present," said Sir Adam, "that is his cfair. So far as I am concerned I never intend to answer criticism that has not the motive of fairness or justice in it."

To the municipalities, Sir Adam Beck said, was due the credit of making electrical development the key to industry in the Province, and making it the great factor in the output of munitions.

There had been no friction between the Fower Controller and himself, but he had criticized Sir Henry Drayton for not asking the power companies in Toronto and Hamilton to curtail their current for munitions in the same manner as the Hydro.

Trustee Thompson made use of the work and the accounts in connection with the drains in the Administration Building. Mr. Bishop was directed to carry the work on by what is known as day labor, but when he found that there would be considerable risk attached to the exception and responsibility he de-Led by Mayor Buchanan of Ingersoll, who moved in amendment that the association appoint an auditor and engineer to make an independent report, in order to refute the charges made by The Financial Fost, Alderman John Edgar of Peterboro', E. T. Sifton of Hamilton and several others opposed the motion. An attempt by President J. W. Lyon to shut off the discussion in order that railway matters might be considered added to the trouble.

Sons.

Mr. Doughty said that while the work had been proceeding for one month, as the employee of the Board who was expected to inspect the work and see that it was done properly, he had not seen any of the accounts. He did not know that any of the accounts had been paid.

"I am free to admit that I might have reported the change in the manner in which the work was to be done. It was not safe work for us to do." I applied to several contractors, including Cotton Brothers, who are first-class excavators, but all refused to undertake the work. Someone had to do the work and all refused to undertake the work. Someone had to do the work and after consultation with Mr. Waste we decided to give it to Dancy, in whom we have the greatest confidence," replied Mr. Bishop.

The power shortage would soon be a thing of the past, but the Commission might have to manufacture electrical equipment to make power available.

Good Wine Needs No Bush"

That's a well-known saying that had its origin in the days of the old Canterbury Pilgrims on their visits to the Shrine of Saint Thomas a Becket.

The customary business sign in those days indicating houses of refreshment along the way was a large broom made of bush, its long handle stuck in the ground by the roadside.

It soon became known to the Pilgrims just where the best viands were to be found, and a well-beaten path to the door would tell the story even though there were "no bush" at its threshold.

May we be pardoned for remarking also that "good diamonds need no bush?" This is evidenced by the phenomenal growth of our diamond trade and the recognition of our house both in Canada and the United States as surpassed by none and approached by few-when high quality and best value are desired. Bear this in mind when thinking of what to give at Christmas.

Money spent in keeping children, away from the Police Court is money well spent, declared Reeve Wallace of Etobicoke at the York County Council meeting yesterday, during a discussion as to the advisability of asking the Ontario Government to establish a Juvenile Court in the county. Mr. Wallace deplored existing conditions. Young children, he said, were being brought before the Police Court and registered as criminals, which was very unfair to the rising generation. Among the different classes of dairy machinery on view at a recently established permanent exhibition in Buenos Aires, the only hand and power separators exhibited are those made by a Hamilton firm. Formerly exports from Canada to Argentina were more or less limited to agricultural machinery, pulp and paper. Exports now included rubber goods, automobiles and bicycle accessories, electric cable and acctylene gas plants. This list, however, said At the request of the Council, Major Brunton outlined the need for a Juvenile Court. The atmosphere of the Police Court, he said, where the most awful and filthy language wes necessarily used in giving evidence, was no fit place to bring children charged with petty offenses.
Children appearing before a Juvenile Court had not the stigma of the Police Court attached to them. The Argentine Exports.

On the other hand, the Argentine Republic produced many articles which should find a ready market in Canada and so create a reciprocal basis for trade. "Amongst the products suitable for export to Canada are wool, quebracho, extract of quebracho, sugar and wine." said Mr. Mitre. "In regard to our wine, I may say that its production will, at no distant date, constitute one of our main industries." This statement are cated considerable amusement among the denizens of prohibition Toronto.

Speaking of the discussion in the Council the other day as to the advisability of building a memorial to the boys who had fallen, Major Brunton declared that nothing could be grander than the establishment of a home for little children. "Doesn't it appear infinitely better," he said, "to build a home for little siba as a memorial?"

Mr. James T. Stewart of Agincourt presented the report for the Industrial Home. There are at present, he said, 65 inmates. Inter-change of Visits. Mr. Mitre had no doubt that the growth of mutually beneficial financial relations between Canada and the Argentine Republic would increase the sincere feelings of friendship for Canada and the Canadian people.
